"MAGIC BOX" FOR BRITISH ARMY

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A large "magic box" that can be used as a front line operating theatre, workshop, or command post or as a large packing case has been shown at the British Army Medical Services annual exercise at Aldershot.

The helipod or universal container is simply a fibre glass box. Weighing 750 lbs., it is 16 feet long, six feet wide and six feet high. BUT in spite of its simplicity, its number of potential uses is enormous.—NAFEN.

230 M.P.H. Helicopter
For British Army?

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The British Army may buy the Rotodyne, Britain's revolutionary helicopter that can take off vertically and cruise at 230 m.p.h.

Army Staff Officers have been watching demonstrations of the machine used as a flying ambulance.

Negotiations between the Army and the manufacturers—Westland Aircraft—are believed to have started.—NAFEN.
