

A photograph of a modern church building under a clear blue sky. On the left, a tall, slender concrete cross stands prominently. The church's facade is a light tan color, featuring a large, arched entrance. Inside the arch, a colorful stained-glass window depicts a religious scene. The foreground is partially in shadow, suggesting trees or bushes. In the background, a multi-story building with several windows is visible. A central text overlay is present.

PATRIMONIO UC