Dear Mr. Rojas,

Timms: MODERN SPANISH PROSE

On 27th January we wrote to you asking for permission to include about 150 words from EL VASO DE LECHE in the above book. I am so sorry to trouble you about this again, but it is now very urgent that we clear permissions for our book, as it is nearly ready to go to press.

Also, another matter has come up: Mr. Timms would like to use, in addition to the passage from EL VASO DE LECHE, about 150 words from your EL DELIQUENTE, taken from CUENTOS CONTEMPORANEOS HISPANO-AMERICANOS by Aguilés Nazoa, published by Ediciones Buribal. We should be most grateful for your permission to reprint this as well. Unfortunately, because of the urgency of the situation, we shall have to go ahead with the printing if we have not heard from you within two weeks. We will hope to have your permission, but if not, we will assume that you have no objection to our using these two extracts, and will make acknowledgements to you, to the publishers, and to the titles of your stories.

If by any chance this should cross with a letter from you, please accept my apologies. Many thanks for your help.

Yours sincerely,

Jay Williams
