

A black and white photograph of a modern architectural complex. The image shows a long, multi-story building with a series of balconies or walkways extending from its side. The building is supported by a series of thick, rectangular concrete columns. In the center, there is a courtyard area with some vegetation and a paved walkway. The sky is bright and overcast. The overall style is functional and minimalist, characteristic of mid-20th-century modernism.

PATRIMONIO UC

FRC-N02-0157b