

A black and white photograph of a large concrete dam. The dam features a spillway with a series of rectangular openings. To the left of the spillway is a large, circular concrete structure, possibly a gate or a part of a turbine. The dam is situated on a grassy slope. The sky is overcast. A watermark is visible in the center of the image.

PATRIMONIO UC