

A black and white photograph showing a complex wooden structure, possibly a roof or a large-scale construction project, under construction. The structure is composed of numerous wooden beams and poles, some of which are being actively worked on by several people. The scene is set against a background of trees and foliage. A watermark, consisting of a double-lined octagonal border, is centered over the image. Inside this border, the text "PATRIMONIO UC" is printed in a serif font. The entire photograph is mounted on a dark red, textured background.
