

An aerial night photograph of a university campus. A large, rectangular swimming pool is the central focus, surrounded by a fence and illuminated by lights. To the left, a large body of water, possibly a lake or reservoir, reflects the lights. The background shows a dense forest of trees and various campus buildings, some with lights on. The overall scene is dark, with the artificial lights providing the main illumination.

PATRIMONIO UC